

We added a new “describe” button in the test setup panel. It opens a text editor with some description fields.

“type”: “MAFIA” | “WEREWOLF” | “SOCIAL_DEDUCTION” | “TEST”;

“banner” clouldinary link;

“description”: {

“summary”: “string”

In all description keys except “time” and “summary” you can use links. An example of using the “tutorial” key. The link will be converted to clickable text. There must be one link. example:

“tutorial”: “Watch this tutorial for get more information.”,

For a section to have a green border, you need to wrap all the text in a tag , example:

“tutorial3”: “ Watch this tutorial for get more information. ”,

}

“rules”: array of objects with this structure:

{

“name”: “Basic Rules” | “Advanced Rules” | “Win Conditions” | “Mechanics” | “Day Voting”
(if you need more section names, feel free to let us know);

“icon”: “icon.png” (now we hardcoded icons on frontend, in future we will create our own icon library, so please always write “icon.png”);

“content”: [

{

“title”: “string”;

“text”: “string”;

}

]

}

to break a line in text use

for example, Avalon rules:

“rules”: [

{

“name”: “Basic Rules”,

“icon”: “icon.png”,

“content”: [

{

“title”: “Overview”,

“text”: “The game consists of 5 missions, each of which can pass or fail. The game ends when either 3 missions pass or 3 missions fail.”

},

{

“title”: “Proposing a Mission”,

“text”: “Players take turns proposing missions. “Proposing a mission” means proposing a group of players to go on a mission together. The number of players who will go on the mission depends on the total number of players in the game, and how many missions have happened so far (see Mission Numbers). After someone proposes a mission, everyone votes on whether they want the mission to happen."

```
    },
    {
      "title": "Going on a Mission",
      "text": "If the strict majority of players want the mission to happen, the proposal is approved. The players on the mission secretly vote Pass or Fail. After everyone on the mission has voted, the result of the mission is revealed. If there is at least 1 Fail, the mission fails. Otherwise, the mission passes. Votes are anonymous."
    },
    {
      "title": "Mission Numbers",
      "text": "An * means that at least 2 Fail votes are needed for this mission to fail. 5 players: 2 3 2 3 3 6 players: 2 3 4 3 4 7 players: 2 3 3 4* 4 8 players: 3 4 4 5* 5 9 players: 3 4 4 5* 5 10 players: 3 4 4 5* 5"
    }
  ]
},
{
  "name": "Advanced Rules",
  "icon": "icon.png",
  "content": [
    {
      "title": "The Hammers",
      "text": "If the strict majority of players do NOT want the mission to happen, the proposal is rejected, and the next player gets a chance to propose a mission. If 4 proposals in a row get rejected, the next player's proposed mission is automatically approved. That player is colloquially known as the hammer."
    },
    {
      "title": "The Fourth Mission",
      "text": "If the game has 7 or more players, the 4th mission will only fail if there are at least 2 Fail votes, instead of the usual 1 Fail vote."
    },
    {
      "title": "The Assassin",
      "text": "In games with an Assassin and a Merlin, the game does NOT end as soon as 3 missions have passed. Instead, the Assassin gets to kill someone after consulting with their teammates. If the Assassin successfully kills Merlin, team Evil wins, otherwise team Good wins."
    }
  ]
},
{
  "name": "Win Conditions",
  "icon": "icon.png",
  "content": [
    {
```

```

    {
      "title": "Team Evil",
      "text": "There are two ways to win, depending on the roles in the game. Team Evil always wins if 3 missions fail. If Merlin and the Assassin are both in the game, Team Evil can also win if 3 missions pass AND the Assassin successfully kills Merlin."
    },
    {
      "title": "Team Good",
      "text": "Team Good wins if 3 missions pass. However, if Merlin and the Assassin are both in the game, team Good only wins if 3 missions pass AND the Assassin fails to kill Merlin."
    }
  ]
},
{
  "name": "Mechanics",
  "icon": "icon.png",
  "content": [
    {
      "title": "Not voting",
      "text": "If you do not vote for a proposed mission, you are counted as having rejected it. If you are on a mission and you do not vote at all (i.e. you do not click Pass or Fail), you are counted as having voted Fail, even if you are on the Good team."
    },
    {
      "title": "Good players cannot fail",
      "text": "No matter which button a Good player presses (Pass or Fail), their vote always counts as a Pass."
    },
    {
      "title": "Not proposing a mission",
      "text": "If it is your time to propose a mission but you run out of time, a mission consisting of randomly-chosen players will be proposed on your behalf. It is still subject to an accept/reject vote, unless you are the hammer."
    }
  ]
}
]

```

Please, don't add any other fields. It can break setup